Group Policy GMS 1810

Dear [Redacted]

STAT

With the advent of the recent regulation making it possible for some contract employees to participate in Federal Health Benefits programs, we are faced with the possibility of some members changing from GMS 1810 to GMS 1799.

This possibility raises the question of whether or not a covered member under GMS 1810 who has satisfied his $100 deductible and transfers to GMS 1799 would be considered to have satisfied the deductible under GMS 1799.

It is our feeling that since these people are all, in effect, under one roof (GEHA) that a deductible satisfied under GMS 1810 should be considered satisfied under GMS 1799.

I would not, however, make any announcement of this to the general membership because there may be some objection from the U.S. Civil Service Commission, since we are, in effect, giving these possible new members of GMS 1799 a benefit not enjoyed by the original member.
